

Kove ColorMix Controller

Introducing Kove ColorMix, the new cost effective, entry level, colour changing paint system from Intralux that lets you control the ambience in a room at the touch of a switch.

Kove ColorMix utilizes DALI protocol and offers nine preset RGB colours, including two shades of white, and the ability to have a random colour changing (rainbow) effect at the press of a button.

Entry level colour sophistication

Low cost colour control

Using the latest T5 lamp technology coupled to fully integrated, modular design, Kove Colormix allows for excellent flexibility and indirect illumination that is smooth, consistent and shadow-free. Module lengths of upto 3056mm create a cost effective solution for continuous runs.

Indirect Illumination

Perfect for your home theatre, retail shop, hotel suite or entertainment space. The attractive Kove ColorMix switch plate allows the user to quickly and simply change or fade the colour of a space to suit a particular theme or need. Imagine being able to change the colour of your loungeroom as you listen to your favourite music or the colour of your window display to suit your latest retail promotion.

Simple to install and operate

Kove ColorMix is a cost effective, simple to install and operate controllable lighting system. It requires no specialized technical installation personnel, just a regular electrician.

Have total control over the colour and mood in a space

Colours specified can vary according to lamp selection and specified lamps subject to change without notice. Colours depicted on this brochure are to be used as a guide only.
